Journal of School Psychology

The Journal of School Psychology publishes original articles on research and practice relevant to the development of school psychology as both a scientific and an applied specialty. The Journal also reviews tests, books, and other professional materials of interest to school psychologists.

Most manuscripts published by JSP are unsolicited. However, the Journal occasionally addresses a timely topic for which manuscripts are invited. JSP is particularly interested in assisting able school psychologists who have not published regularly.

Brief Reports and Commentaries of no more than two printed pages will be considered for publication. At the discretion of the editor, rebuttals to published commentaries may be invited. They must be willing to make an extended report of the manuscript available to readers upon request. Authors must agree not to publish a full-length report with another journal and these Brief Reports should be carefully designed and well-executed studies that, because they represent a replication or specialized topic, would not be accepted as a regular article.

All manuscripts are read by the editor and by one or more editorial consultants with the intent of providing appropriate and constructive written reviews.

Editorial Office: Manuscripts should be submitted to Joel Meyers, Programs in School Psychology, Education 232, SUNY at Albany, 1400 Washington Ave., Albany, NY 12222, USA. Please refer to the Instructions for Contributors on the last page.

LEARNING AND INSTRUCTION

The Journal of the European Association for Research on Learning and Instruction (EARLI)

Editor: ERIK DE CORTE, Center for Instructional Psychology and Technology, University of Leuven, Vesaliusstraat 2, B-3000 Leuven, Belgium
Assistant Editor: LIEVEN VERSCHAFFEL

Learning and Instruction welcomes research papers and review articles on the processes of learning, development, instruction, and teaching representing a variety of theoretical perspectives, and different methodological approaches (quantitative as well as qualitative); a preference, however, is given for empirically based studies. Contributions relate to all age levels—from infants to adults—and to a diversity of settings, such as classroom learning in school, learning environments for special educational needs, vocational and industrial training in non-school situations, and informal educational settings. The focus is on European research in the field. However, contributions from non-European experts are encouraged.

Learning and Instruction provides a high quality, peer refereed journal publishing the most advanced research on learning and instruction.
